Dedication

to

Miss Hattie Fay

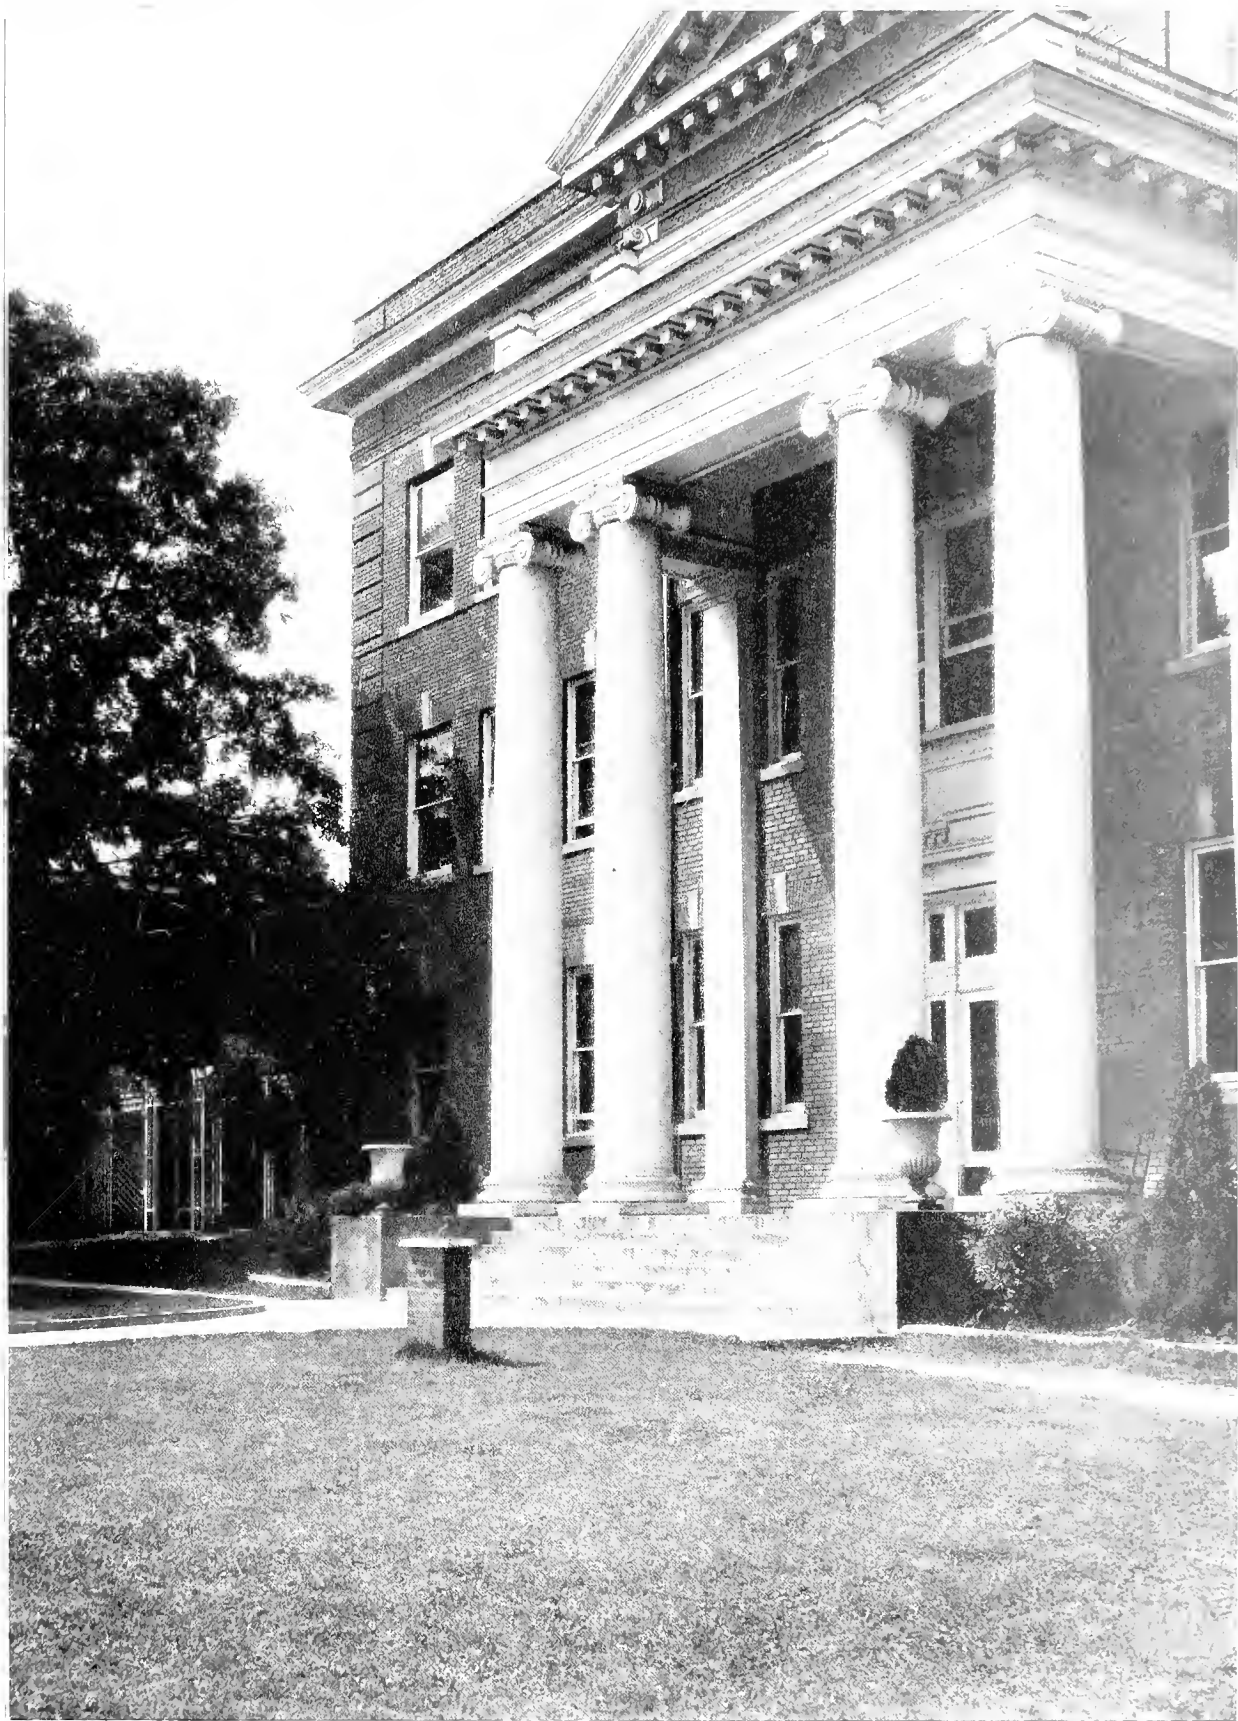

To express our deep love, admiration and gratitude for what you are and have been to our Alma Mater, we, the Senior Class of 1930, do dedicate this volume of
The Sororian.

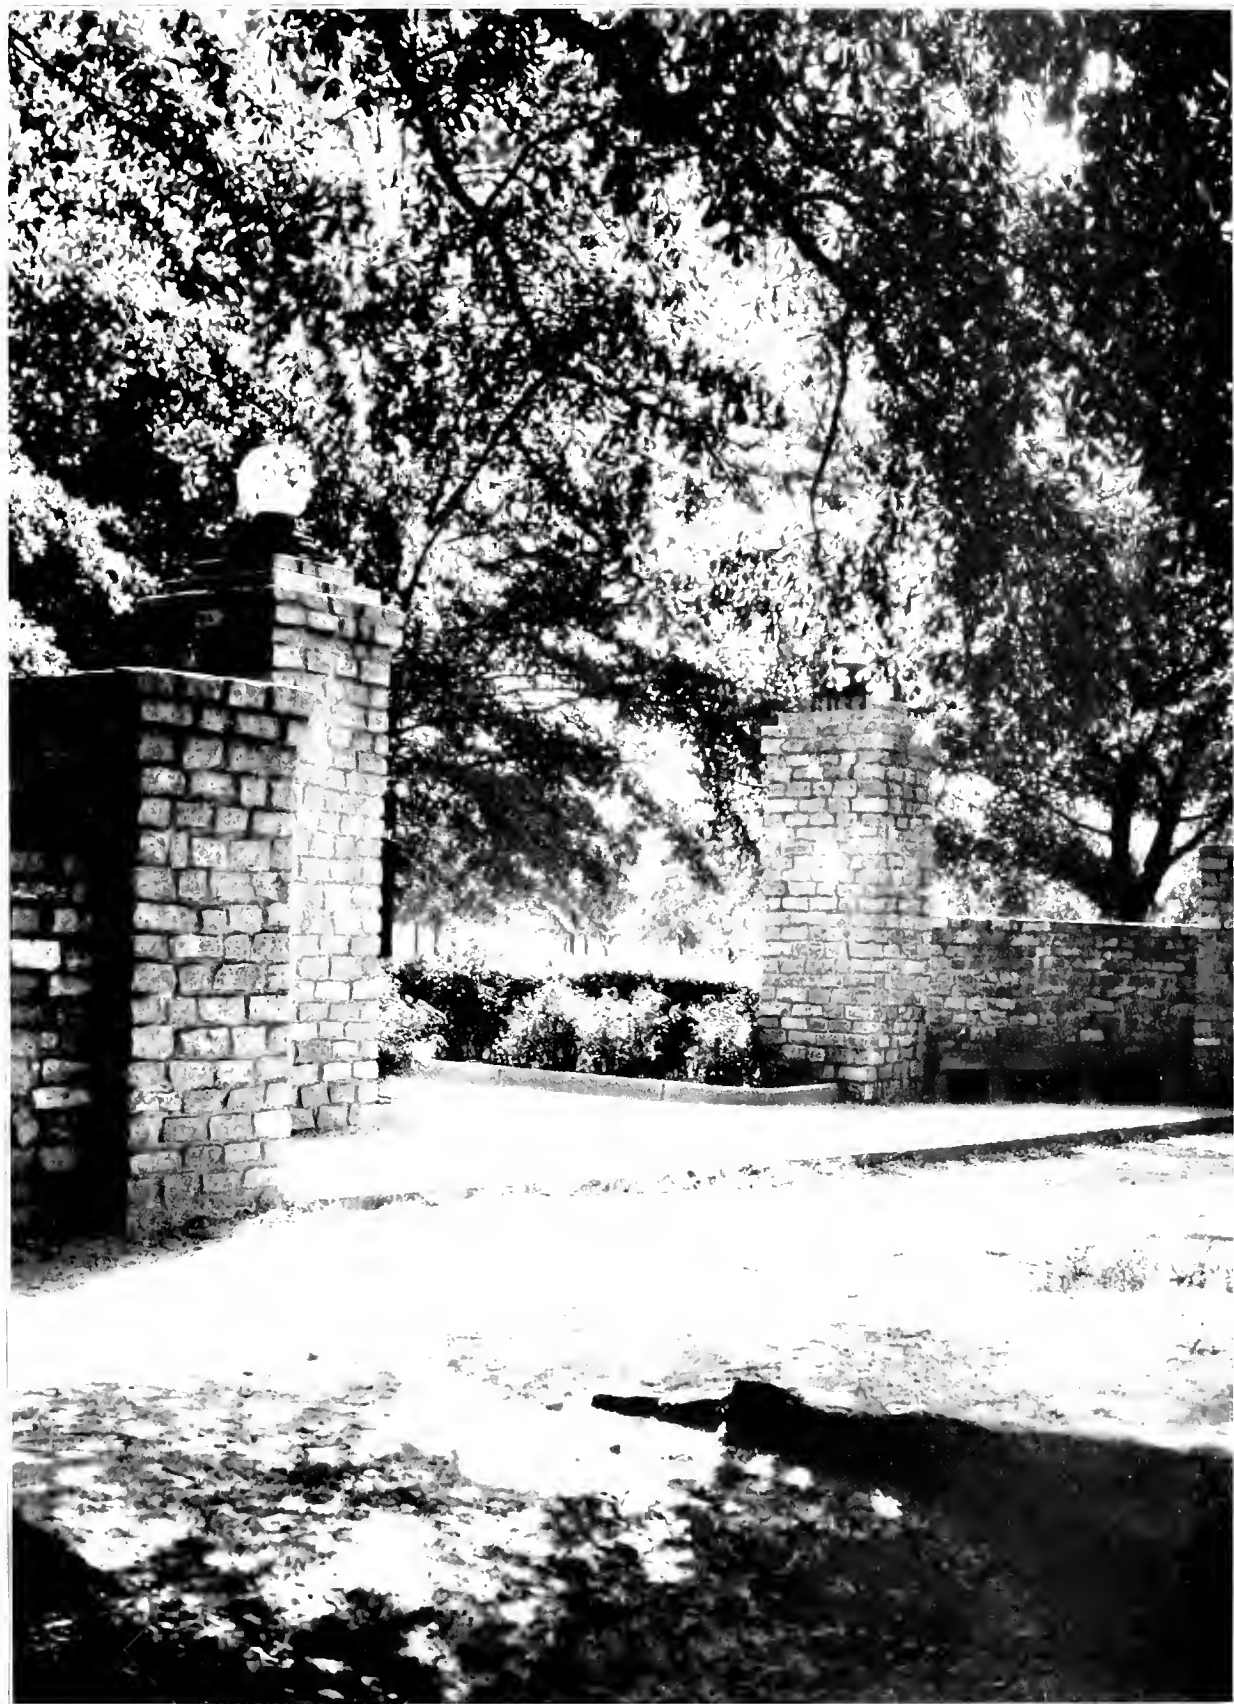

Alma Mater

*Dear to our hearts is our Alma Mater,
Loyal and true are we,
Truest devotion till life is ended,
Wholly we pledge to thee.
Tho' from thy hall far away we wander,
Thoughts back to thee will fly;
And tender mem'ries time cannot sever,
Love that will never die.
Heav'n's choicest blessings ever attend thee,
Dear Alma Mater mine—
No shadows harm thee, no fears alarm thee,
Always the sunshine thine.
And tho' we leave thee, we'll never grieve
thee,
True to our trust we'll be,
Our best endeavor, now and forever,
Always to honor thee.*

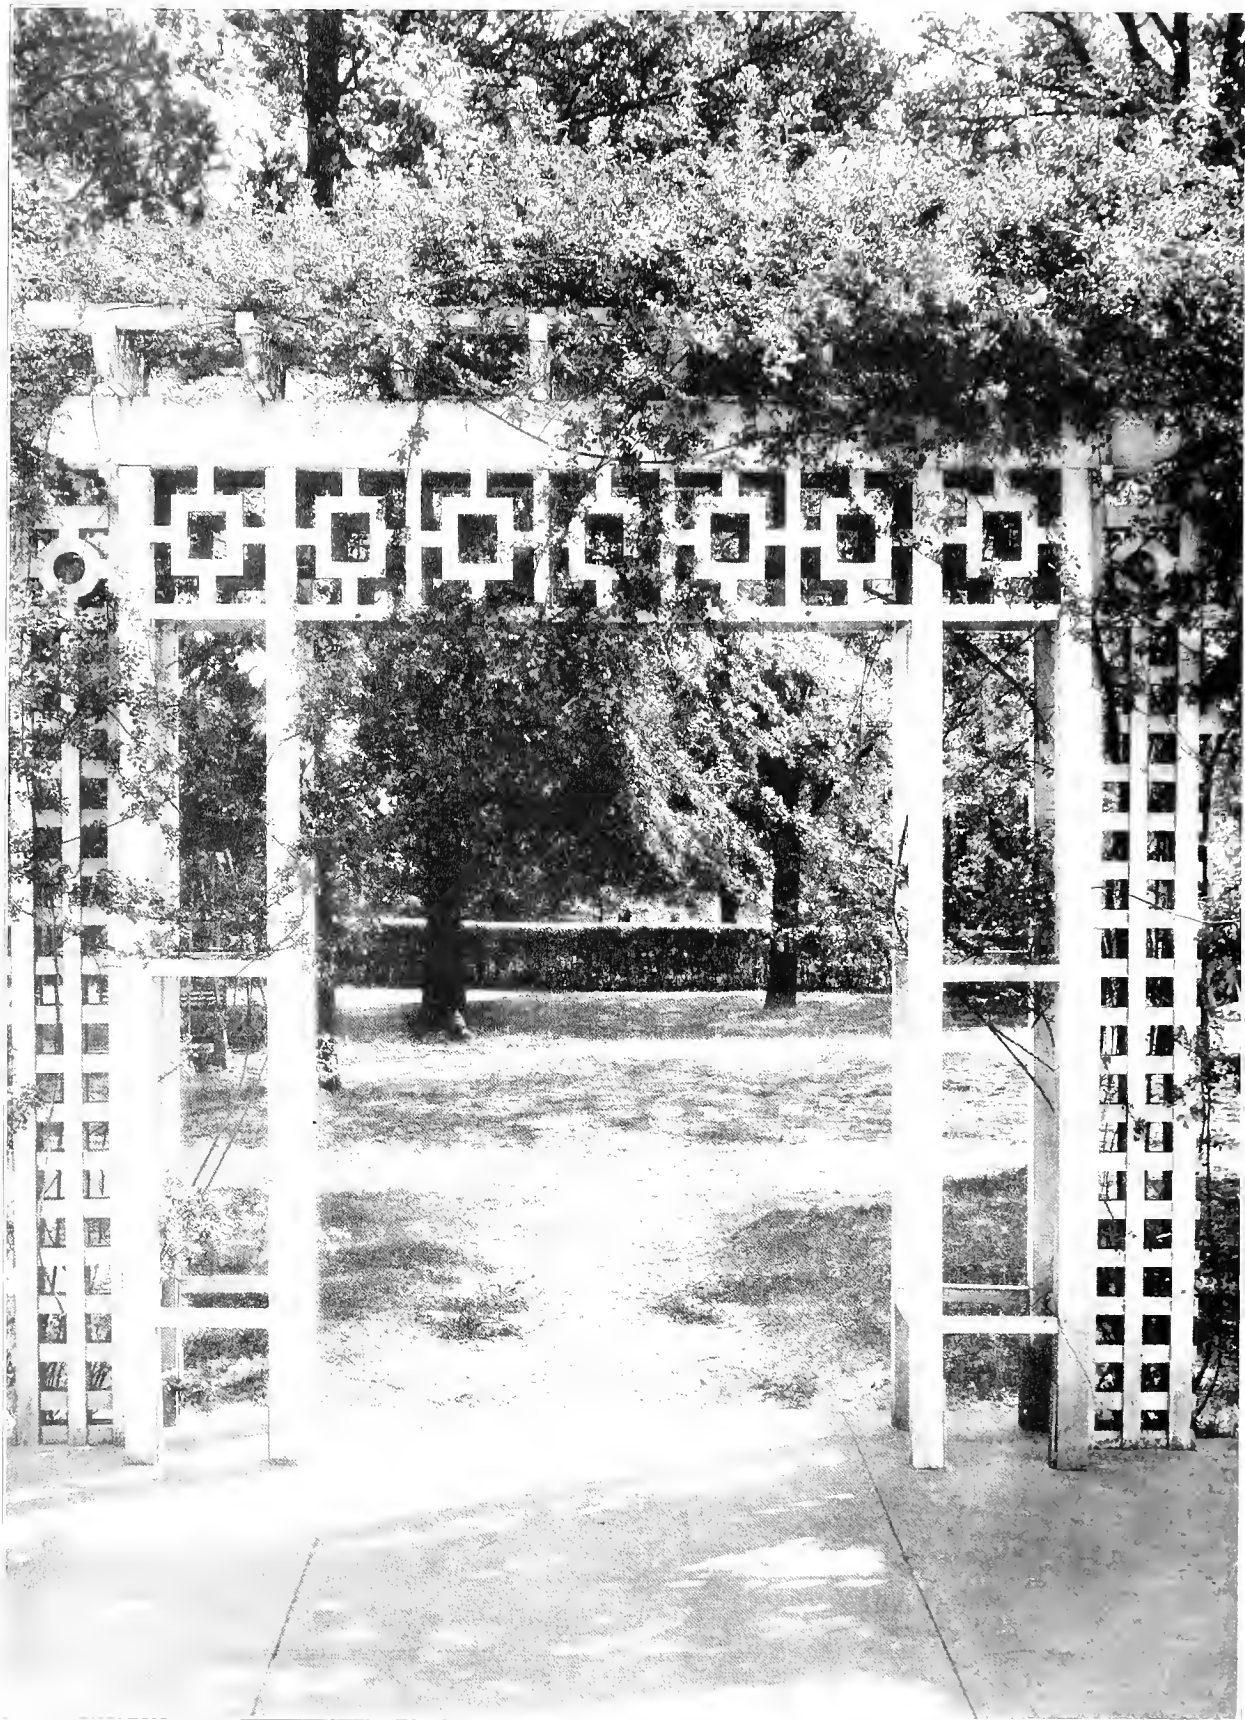

Mrs. C. S. Sullivan.

ALICE INEZ BOLEMAN, A.B. Townville, South Carolina

Lanier Literary Society; Spanish Club, '25, '26; Block Letter Club; Treasurer Student Government Association, '26, '27; President Junior Class '28, '29; Vice-President Lanier Literary Society, '28, '29; International Relations Club '28, '29; Junior Play; Secretary Student Government Association, '28, '29; Athenian Book Club '28, '29; Literary Editor "Sororian" Staff, '28, '29; International Relations Club '28, '29; Lawyer Senior Class; Town Girls Club, '29, '30; Elected President Student Government Association, '29, '30; D. G. S. Club, '28-'29, '29-'30.

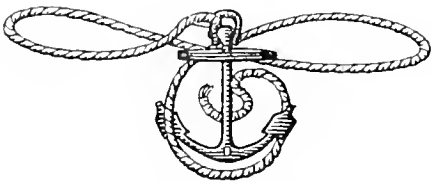

"Nez" is a reminder of the maxim that "good things come in small packages." Her marks, her smile, and her pleasing personaaity are sufficient proof of this. Sad were the hearts of the boarding students when they learned that she would be unable to live in the dormitory and serve as president of Student Government this year. However, they were somewhat reconciled by the fact that she would return daily to continue her studies and her many friendships. For "Nez" we wish naught but the best.

MARY NAOMI BREEDIN, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Spanish Club, '26, '27, '28, '29; Science Club; Athenian English Club.

*"The light of love, the purity of grace,
The mind, the music breathing from her face."*

Mary is little in stature but big in heart and soul. She is a friend of everyone, and with her kindness and loving disposition leaves an indelible impression upon all she meets. She is faithful in her duties and willing to help at all times in college activities. We wish for her the best of success in life.

Senior Class

RUTH BROWN, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Entered, '26; Estherian Literary Society; Town Girls' Club, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30; President Town Girls' Club, '29, '30; Sigma Delta Gamma Sorority, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30; President Sigma Delta Gamma Sorority, '28, '29, '30; Pan-Hellenic, '28, '29, '30.

"If her face were veiled, yet to my fancied sight, Love, sweetness, goodness would in her person shine."

See her coming down the street! A girl with a sunny disposition and a dazzling personality—that's Ruth! She's the kind of girl you like to have around, a sincere friend who can "shoo the blues away," and we're beginning to believe that fellow in the Nash isn't as green as his car. At any rate, we admire his taste "beaucoup."

RUTH CATHCART, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; Town Girls' Club; Town Girls' Minstrel, '27, '28, '29, '30; Secretary Town Girls' Club, '29; Junior Play, '29; Athenian Club, '29, '30, Vice-President, '29, President, '30; International Relations Club, '30; President Senior Class, '30; Glee Club, '29, '30.

During the entire four years of her college career Ruth has been outstandingly popular because of her varied talents, her high ideals, and her unusual ability. She is one of those girls to whom other girls instinctively turn for leadership. Ruth never becomes flurried and never arrives at her wit's end; on the contrary, she is always calm, poised, in full command of herself and the situation. That her personality is one inspiring confidence has been proved by the fact that she has been elected repeatedly to responsible offices.

Senior Class

DOROTHY E. CHAMBERS, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Pi Phi Delta Sorority; Town Girls' Club; Lanier Literary Society; Glee Club, '27, '28; English Club, '28, '29; Secretary International Relations Club, '29, '30; Science Club, '29, '30; College Editor "Anderson Independent"; Class Poet.

"Suns now dead

Have tucked away of their gold for your hair."

Although Dot has always been rather puny and unable to attend classes very regularly—in fact, she found it hard to get to class on time, also—she is one of our most talented, most intellectual and most lovable girls, and she is pretty, too. She possesses the rare charm of a lovely voice, a graceful carriage, and a congenial spirit. As the Anderson College reporter for the "Independent," and as a promising young poet, she has won no little distinction in the student body of the college as well as in the city. We believe that some day she will be famous in the literary world.

"She has a clear, wind-sheltered loveliness

Like pale streams winding far, and hills withdrawn

From the bright reaches of the noon. Daze

Is her lifting fancy, but her heart

Is orchard boxes and dusk and quietness."

FAYE SELMA DOWNS, A.B. Shelby, North Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; North Carolina, '26, '27; Progressive Education Club, '26; Y. W. C. A.; Y. W. A.; Science Club, '29; Secretary B. Y. P. U.; Tennis Club, '30.

"Demure, honest, fair, and true;

A girl with a future like the azure blue."

Quiet, yet not meek, is Faye, who does well in whatever she is required or desired to do. She is generous and kind to all, and her altruism reaches throughout the entire college. No service is too great or small for her to do for her many friends. In the drama of life, where love of fellowmen and loyalty to one's home, one's friends, one's college, and one's ideals, Faye plays her part extremely well.

If 'tis true that virtue is its own reward we know that Faye will achieve success.

Senior Class

MARGUERITE DUCKWORTH, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; Entered '26; Town Girls' Club, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30; Town Girls' Minstrel, '26, '27, '28, '29, '30; Town Girls' Revue, '29, '30.

*"Her deep blue eyes smile constantly,
As if they had, by fitness,
Won the secret of a happy dream
She does not care to speak."*

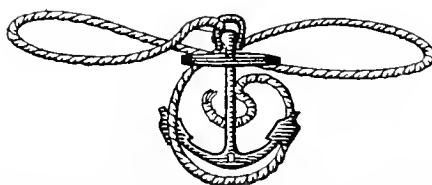

A good sport, a friend to all and an invaluable member of the Senior Class—such describes Marguerite. With her courage and will to win she will certainly make her place in the world. The Senior Class sends her forth as one of their most loyal members. Each one of them is hoping success for her.

LILLIAN GLENN, A.B. Starr, South Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; French Club, '27, '28; Science Club, '29, '30; Athenian Club, '29, '30; Town Girls' Club.

*"I smile for all, a greeting glad,
A brave, jolly way she had."*

Would you like a girl who is sincere, kind, and true? Well, you'd like Lillian, then, because she is all that and more, too. We love her because she is her own lovable self yesterday, today, and tomorrow. Lillian has a frank, open disposition, and we feel sure that nothing but the best can come to her.

Senior Class

EVA KATE HALL, A.B. Roseboro, North Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; Glee Club, '27, '28, '29, '30; Business Manager Glee Club, '28, '29; Secretary Estherian Literary Society, '28, '29; Pianist Sunday School, '28, '29; Vice-president Estherian Literary Society, '29-'30; President Glee Club, '29, '30; Chorister, '29, '30; Y. W. A. Cabinet, '29, '30; Executive Council, '29, '30; "Yodler" Staff, '29, '30; Social Editor "Sororian," '29, '30; Pan-Hellenic Council, '29, '30; Sigma Delta Gamma Sorority.

"Fair as a star, when only one is shining in the sky."

"Tramps Alley" without Kitten, that girl with such a charming personality, so talented and extremely easy to look at, especially that golden hair and those sparkling eyes—goodness! We couldn't feature such a thing. Even though she won't be with us always, we aren't worrying about the future of our dear senior, who has to such a high degree inward as well as outward beauty—'cause you just picture the brown bungalow, "Dr. Porky," and happiness floating all around! Nothing can ever be too good for you—you dear old pal!

MARION HAYES, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; Athenian Club, '29, '30; Science Club, '29; Town Girls' Club, '27, '28, '29, '30.

"To know, to do, to be" is Marian's motto. Though she is inclined to lay more stress on the latter.

*"She knows when she is asked,
She does what she is told.
She is a friend without mask,
And a girl four-fold."*

Senior Class

ELIZABETH HOLLEY, A.B. Jefferson, South Carolina

French Club, '27, '28; Lanier Literary Society; Science Club, '28, '29; Junior Representative Executive Council, '27, '28; Junior Play; Nominating Committee, '29; President B. S. U., '29; General Director B. Y. T. U., '29; President Student Government, '29.

Love, service, and loyalty is "Boo's" attitude toward Anderson College, her Alma Mater. Whatever she strives to do she accomplishes nobly, for she has the will to succeed. This dominant factor in her exceptional personality enables her to serve her college very ably. A zealous worker is "Boo," and her marks and accomplishments prove this.

If "the voice with the smile wins" we are certain that "the girl with the smile wins," also. Therefore, we feel assured of "Boo's" success.

RUBY HUNNICUTT, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Town Girls' Club, '27, '28, '29, '30, Vice-president '30; Lanier Literary Society; International Relations Club, '28, '29, '30, President '30; Athenian Club, '29, '30; Assistant Editor "Yodler," '29, '30; French Club, '27, '28; Class Historian.

Ruby is one of those few girls of whom it may be said, "the longer you know her the more you love her." She has a rare gift for friendship—she possesses those qualities which justly inspire absolute trust, deep affection, and warm admiration. A friend of Ruby's can always feel free to entrust any confidence to her with the assurance that it will never be betrayed. No reward is too great for such a girl; we can only hope that Ruby will find in life the happiness and success which she merits.

*"She has a lofty mind, a noble soul,
The gift of friendship, and a heart of gold."*

Senior Class

HAZEL JEEFCOAT, A.B. North, South Carolina

Education Club, '27; French Club, '27; Down-State Club; Athenian Book Club, '29, '30; Y. W. A. Cabinet, '29, '30; Estherian Literary Society; Sans Souci Club; Senior Class Marshal; Junior Class Play; D. G. S. Club, President '29, '30.

We hardly know how to describe this care-free, frolicsome beauty. Now, you might think she doesn't study, but she does—sometimes. She possesses a pleasing sort of personality. Her smiles are seldom cloudy, if ever, only momentarily. She doesn't care how she looks, yet she always looks nice. When Cupid calls she answers, and often does he search her heart, but we are not surprised.

*"I did but see her passing by,
And yet I'll love her till I die."*

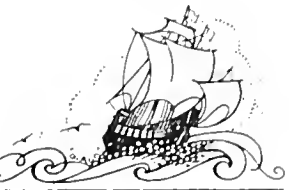

ELMA LOUISE JOSEY, A.B. St. Charles, South Carolina

Lanier Literary Society; German Club, '27; Science Club, '29; Hikors' Club; Y. W. A.; Y. W. C. A.; B. Y. P. U.; Secretary and Treasurer Senior Class, '29; Senior Representative Executive Council; Tennis Club; "Yodler" Staff, '29.

*"A maiden whom the fates have blessed
With beauty, love, and happiness."*

Elma came to us our sophomore year from Columbia College, and we joyfully received her, for we knew that Columbia's loss was our gain. It has been said of her that one must know her to love her, but we alter this statement to read that one "who knows her must love her."

Senior Class

CLARA LOUISE McCLELLAN, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; Town Girls' Club, '26, '27, '28, '29; Progressive Education Club, '26, '27; Athenian English Club, '28, '29; Science Club, '27, '28; International Relations Club, '29.

By a personality which is attractive and good-natured, Louise has won her way with ease into the companionship and confidence of all who have enjoyed her acquaintance. What would we do without Louise? There is not a more enthusiastic, loyal, and sincere member of the Class of '30. She is capable, dependable, and always ready to do her part, and to do it well. There is certainly just reason for her class to be proud of Louise.

*"Rare compound of quality, noble and true,
With plenty of sense, and good humor, too."*

ADA POWELL, A.B. Savannah, Georgia

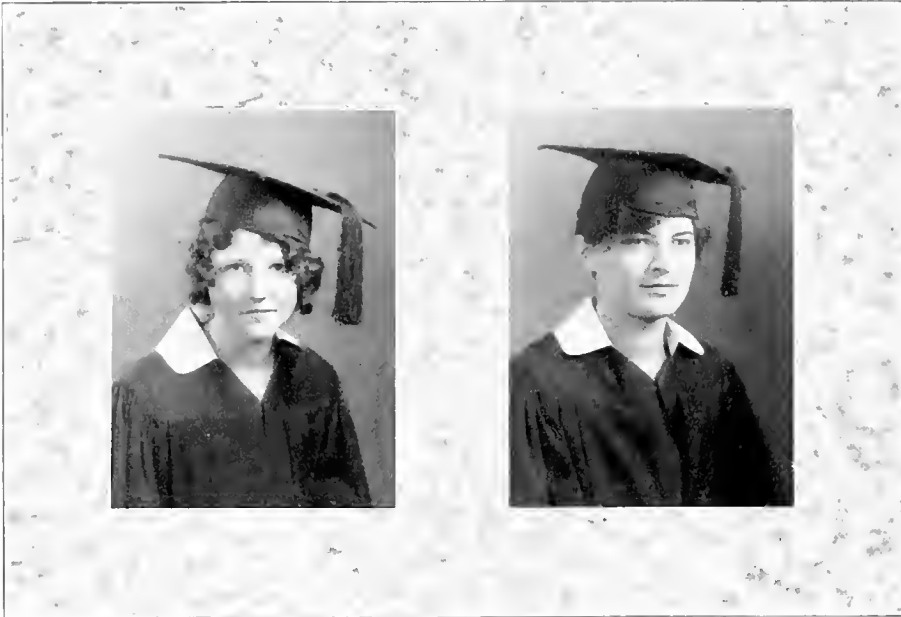

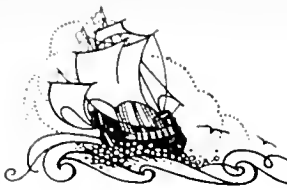

Entered '26; Estherian Literary Society; Sans Souci, '27, '28; Glee Club, '27, '28, '29, '30; Secretary Pan-Hellenic, '27, '28; International Relations Club, '27, '28, '29, '30; Assistant Business Manager "Sororian," '28, '29; Treasurer Estherian Literary Society, '28, '29; President Sigma Phi, '28, '29; Statistic, '28, '29, '30; President Pan-Hellenic, '29, '30; Athenian Club, '28, '29, '30; Vice-President Senior Class, '29, '30; Business Manager "Sororian," '29, '30; Pan-Hellenic, '27, '28, '30.

*"Trouble, art, a frock, a kiss, a rhyme—
I did not say they feed my heart,
But still they pass my time."*

For thy beauty and thy loveliness we adore thee; for thy intellectual gifts we praise thee; for thy kind heart and charming ways we love thee; thou hast been popular among thy fellow students; thou has won the good will and the hearty fellowship of thy co-workers; thou hast commanded the respect and admiration of all whom thou hast chanced to meet; thou hast witnessed a host of ardent suitors bowing at thy feet.

Hence, then, "fair Portia," into life's flowery pathway, and mayst thou find there sweet happiness and blessed content! Cling thou steadfastly to thy worthy ideals and continue thou in thy accomplishments and alluring charms!

Senior Class

BEATRICE PRUITT, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Entered '29; Estherian Literary Society; Town Girls' Club, '29, '30; Town Girls' Revue, '29, '30.

"Bebe" spent three years at Winthrop before coming to Anderson, but so quickly did she become a part of the college that it seemed she had always been here. She has that much-sought-for thing called charm and a lovable disposition which have made her immensely popular with everyone. Dainty, pretty, and sympathetic, she is the kind of a girl we like to have for a friend. We wish for "Bebe" all success and happiness.

FRONDE RICE, A.B. Simpsonville, South Carolina

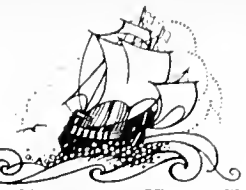

Entered '26; Estherian Literary Society; Vice-president Estherian Literary Society, '28, '29; Secretary Estherian Literary Society, '29, '30; Athenian Club, '28, '29, '30; Secretary Athenian Club, '29, '30; International Relations Club, '28, '29, '30; Estherian Reporter, '28, '29; House President East Dormitory, '28, '29; Assistant Editor "Sororian," '28-'29; Editor-in-Chief "Sororian," '29, '30.

*"So unaffected, so composed a mind,
So firm, so soft, so strong, yet so refined."*

A sunny smile, a cheery disposition, a high standard of work, a high ideal in character—in other words, a "peach" of a girl—these are the qualities which go to make up Fronde. Just look at that list of honors and you'll know why she is so popular—an all-round girl, a good student, and a good sport in every sense of the word.

If we judge the future by the past, what else is there to expect, except that Fronde's future spells success?

Senior Class

FRANCES ELIZABETH TRIBBLE, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; Vice-President Sophomore Class, '28; Treasurer Freshman Class, '27; Executive Council, '28; Treasurer Junior Class, '29; Treasurer Estherian Society, '29; French Club, '28; Vice-President Athenian Club, '30; President Y. W. C. A., '30.

Her love for her Alma Mater is portrayed in her every act by her willingness to serve, and her capability in so doing. Her motto seems to be, "plan to do more than you can do, and then do it." "Liz" exemplifies this very effectively by her successful accomplishment of everything she undertakes. She believes that "to live pure, speak true, right wrong, and follow the king" is noble, and nobly she defends this belief. We hope that she may realize her ambition, for she is most deserving.

ANNIE LEE RIVERS, B.O. Eastover, South Carolina

Lanier Literary Society; Secretary Sophomore Class, '27-'28; French Club, '27; Vice-President Junior Class, '28; Secretary Lanier Literary Society, '28; Junior Play, '28; House President East Dormitory, '29; Athenian Club, '28; Vice-President Y. W. C. A., '28; Business Manager "Yodler," '28.

"The most precious gifts are found in small packages." Sh-sh-sh! Here comes the house president! And do we love to see her coming? Well, I'll say we do! If she had not been so successful in expression she never could have scared us to death with those "sicked looks" when we were naughty girls. We'll always wonder "why" Annie Lee was so interested in Boy Scouts; and, too, just why in the world she gets so thrilled over calls from Greenville. Anyway, there is happiness and success in store for this attractive "little girl" with the soft brown hair, and my! those eyes! Annie Lee, always remember "safety first" when you play tennis.

Senior Class

MARTHA WYATT, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Estherian Literary Society; Athenian Club, '28, '29; Science Club, '28, '29; International Relations Club, '28, '29, '30; Town Girls' Club, '27, '28, '29, '30.

Full of fun and pep, ready to make somebody happy, an enthusiastic member of the Senior Class—that's Martha. Martha is always willing to take part in college activities, and we shall always remember her as playing a big part in the Town Girls Minstrel. For four years she has been a true and loyal member of our student body, and we wish for her the best of success.

EVELYN ALICE YEARGIN, A.B. Anderson, South Carolina

Town Girls' Club; Junior Literary Society; Science Club, '30; Athenian Club, '29, '30.

Evelyn is one of the most conscientious girls in our class, and her Alma Mater is proud to claim her. She enjoys universal popularity because of her ready sympathy and unselfishness. She is a modest, capable, sincere, idealistic, and a lovable girl.

"To be able under all circumstances to practice five things constitutes perfect virtue; these five are gravity, generosity, sincerity, earnestness, and kindness."

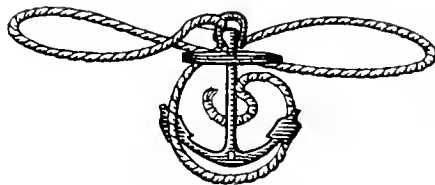

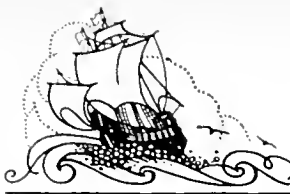

SHIPS

*I think there's nothing lovelier than a ship—
A graceful, white-winged water-bird in flight,
Her sails stretched taut, her lifting prow adrip
With spray as sparkling as the stars at night.
I think I've never seen a lovelier sight
Than racing sailboats on a sunlit sea—
A spectacle that makes my throat grow tight
With knowledge of wild fantasies set free.
We are the ships, and life the sounding sea;
Each one the captain, pilot and the crew.
To each the waves will mourn in minor key;
To each the rising wind will sing anew
Of islands of delight where warbling palms
Will whisper through the slumber-scented night,
The stately music and the mystic psalms
Of life and death, of darkness and the light.
And Pan will dance upon the purple hills
At dawn when shadows flee before the sun.
We'll sail our ships across the seven seas
To find the pot of gold at rainbow's end.
We'll carry cargoes of fine silks and teas,
Of jade and incense and blue porcelain.
We'll bargain from Ceylon to old Capri
For laces and rare paintings and old wines.
But when we've sailed the seven silver seas
And come again to harbor, home, and peace,
I wonder if the gods of destinies
Will grant us comfort, happiness, and ease?*

Class History

EARLY in September, nineteen hundred twenty-six, the largest freshman class in the history of Anderson College embarked, in a dense fog, for an exciting voyage to the destination, Diploma. Little did we dream of the things that awaited us and still less did we dream that we would go down in history as the last class to receive degrees from Anderson College.

The fog lasted many weeks. For a time we could not even find the third floor of the administration building, but always came to the balcony of the auditorium and had to turn and grope for another set of steps. Again and again, we walked into class rooms and sat down only to find that no one else was having the same lessons we were so we had to get up and walk out again.

But the fog finally cleared, became easier, for, as you know, "it's always fair weather when good fellows get together." We found that we had a crew of good fellows and thus the many weary, many pleasant knots of our freshman year were passed, as we now realize, happily.

As we sailed on the second part of our journey, we found that there were newcomers onto this sea of knowledge who knew even less than we had known. It looked to us now as if not the weather but they were foggy. But it seems that Sophomores become wise enough to see through fog.

It was during this year that Miss Annie D. Denmark was made president of Anderson College to succeed Dr. John E. White. This was unique since she was the first woman to be president of such an institution in South Carolina. Then began our earnest drive for endowment for our college. We wanted, as we had never wanted anything, to see it succeed.

When we set sail as Juniors, our crew had diminished so that we hardly knew our class. Many had found more interesting ships than ours. Some had embarked on what is often called "the sea of matrimony," while others had found their lives' works in other fields. We could only hope that they had chosen wisely.

When we started on the last lap of our long, often rough, often seemingly useless, but withal wonderful journey our number had diminished to twenty-two, but we possessed the strength of great numbers under the leadership of Ruth Cathcart.

It was just after Thanksgiving that the shock came. Anderson College had been made a junior college. For the second time it had gained a unique distinction. This would be the first junior college in South Carolina. We would be the last class to receive degrees from Anderson College and to our utter dismay the Sophomores, who always felt that they deserved the honor, ran about the halls calling themselves seniors.

We disembark from our voyage far wiser and more learned than when we had started, but with the same dauntless spirit which had carried us through and which will carry us on into the world. The horizon looked bright as we moved away leaving Miss Denmark and to our Alma Mater this cheer, "Sail on, and on, and on."

RUBY HUNNICUTT, Class Historian.

Last Will and Testament

UTTING so rapidly loose from life, and finding so many things of such gigantic proportions to be attended to before the end should come, this, the Class of 1930, has hastily taken an inventory of her possessions and deemed it necessary to make the following donations. She has tried to be just, as well as generous, with these coveted gifts, and it is hoped that you will accept them as sacred trusts from one who has gone before:

ITEM I. To our Alma Mater and her administration we give our love and loyalty. May her future be as glorious as her past.

ITEM II. We give and bequeath to our beloved faculty all the amazing knowledge and startling information that we have furnished them from time to time in our various examination papers. We know that much which we have imparted to them in this way would throw a new light on many a hitherto familiar line of thought, and if the faculty sees fit, they are hereby authorized to give out such of this information to the world as they may feel the world has need of. This, of course, is left entirely to their personal discretion.

ITEM III. To the rightful successors, the Juniors, we bequeath the following heirlooms: The senior table, with its prevailing quietness; the dear old crook, that has caused us so many hours of anxious worry; our chapel seats that we have endeavored to fill so advantageously; and our senior dignity. May they uphold it forever with all seriousness and gravity.

ITEM IV. To the Sophomore Class we leave our sisterly devotion.

ITEM V. To the Freshman Class we leave our intuition to "see thyself as others see thee."

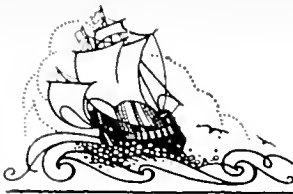

ITEM VI. We give and bequeath to Miss Beach the balance in our class treasury to be used in buying a pair of rubber shoes for detective work. We feel that she will need these in dealing with the classes that are to be our successors.

ITEM VII. We will and bequeath our talented editor-in-chief of the Yodler, "Doc" Welborn, all the events of our lives, past, present, and to come, with all the wondrous, hair-breadth escapes, glorious attainments and other deserved or undeserved notoriety, trusting that they may furnish plenty of material for news items and brilliant editorials for ages to come, and serve as an inspiration for those who look to us for examples.

ITEM VIII. The following may seem but trifling bequests, but we hope they may be accepted not as worthless things lavishly thrown away, but as valuable assets to those who may receive them, and as a continual reminder of the generosity of hearts displayed in our free and full bestowal:

First—Dorothy Chambers wills to Miss Cowdrick one of her own compositions, "The Race of the Centipedes," to take the place of "Canterbury Tales" in the curriculum.

THE SORORIAN, 1930

Second—Elise Campbell leaves her art of being on time to anyone who may have a tendency to be late.

Third—Eva Kate Hall leaves her interest in Furman University to Irene Davis.

Fourth—Martha Wyatt leaves several pounds of her surplus weight to Jo Frank Acker.

Sixth—Elizabeth Tribble leaves her loyalty and untiring efforts to Kutsy Cobb.

Seventh—To "Bill" Meeks the example of Marian Hayes. Marian has proved herself able to keep quiet on all occasions, and this surely should convince and convert "Bill."

Eight—Lillian Glenn and Evelyn Yeargin leave their joy of being day students to anyone who wishes to escape life in a dormitory.

Nine—Since "Variety is the spice of life," Hazel Jeffcoat leaves all her cast-off lovers to Mary Frances Jones. May these valuable assets be handled with care.

Ten—Annie Lee Rivers leaves her privilege of using the telephone to anyone who may be interested in fostering the Boy Scout organization.

Eleven—"Boo" Holley leaves all the soap that the rats and mice have carried out of her bathroom to Marian Cox, hoping that she may be able to keep that school girl complexion.

Twelve—Elma Josey and Faye Downs leave their flippant natures to the residents of Tramps Alley.

Thirteen—To Claudia Prevost, Ruth Cathcart wills her musical gifts. "Music hath charms to soothe the savage heart."

Fourteen—To Harriot Marshall, Ada Powell leaves her bluffing ability, along with her good looks.

Fifteen—To some benighted soul Fronde Rice wills her troubles as editor-in-chief of the SORORIAN. "Apply early and avoid the rush."

Sixteen—Louise McClellan leaves her devoted love for Educational Psychology to some conscientious member of the Class of '31.

Seventeen—Marguerite Duckworth leaves her well modulated voice, which she acquired in Public School Music, to Mary Lou Salla.

Eighteen—Ruby Hunnicutt leaves her glorious attainments in the local International Relations Club to Anna Bass. May she prove as successful as Ruby has.

Nineteen—Mary Breedin wills her knowledge of Home Management to Wynona McGee, as she feels Wynona will have need of it soon.

Twenty—Inez Boleman wills her share in the town girls mail box to Frances Pruitt, hoping that its daily contents may prove as interesting as hers have been.

We do appoint our beloved sponsor as executor of this our last will and testament.

Witness:

THE CLASS OF '30.

INEZ BOLEMAN, Lawyer.

Class Prophecy

“Ashore that’s going ashore!” came the cry behind me, and the din swelled to a larger degree. Handkerchiefs fluttered around me, and the two children at my side clapped their hands in glee. It was the summer of 1940, and we were boarding the “Ule de France” for the first time. As though this were not enough happiness, I had been made even happier by meeting up with several of my friends who were also going abroad. We had had a hilarious time talking over old times, even though our paths were widely separated now. Only two of us were accompanied by our husbands, these being Ruth Brown and myself. But Ruth was the same lonely girl, changed not at all by marriage, riches, and three charming children. In the same group with her were Marion Hayes, a dress designer on her way to the Paris salons; Margarette Duckworth, a private secretary to a business firm with headquarters in both New York and London, and Martha Wyatt, a sociologist investigating the crime wave in the United Kingdom. Such varied interests naturally caused a larger degree of excitement in the group at my side. Incomplete sentences came to my ear; they interrupted each other as though they were school-girls again. I turned my attention to another friend at my side until I heard joyful cries from the group. I turned and found out the reason. Coming toward us across the deck were Dorothy Chambers and Ruby Hunnicutt, looking just as they did ten years before, on our graduation day. Both of them were connected with the New York “Herald,” having served their apprenticeship as journalists, and now being sent abroad to interview some visiting royalty at Buckingham Palace. They joined eagerly into the discussion, for they had just left some of our friends at the dock. These were Louise McClellan and Mary Breedin, who run an antique shop just off Broadway. Dorothy and Ruby were acquainted with all the latest news, both having a reputation for attracting gossip. Dorothy had just received a letter from Elma Josey, an assistant chemist at Vassar, who planned a trip to New York in the fall. With her were coming Lillian Glenn and Evelyn Yeargin, who were both gathering material for their doctors’ dissertations, hoping to obtain their Ph.D.’s the following spring. Not to be outdone in keeping up with our friends, I also produced a letter, this one from Ruth Cathcart, now a well-known psychiatrist in London also. With her, working in the American Clinic, was Elizabeth Tribble, an accomplished business woman. In her letter Ruth told me of having recently seen Elizabeth Holley, now a principal in one of the Baltimore city schools.

As the excitement began to die down someone suggested lunch. As we went down to lunch our discussion continued. It was in no way lessened when we found that Eva Kate Hall was the leading pianist in the ship orchestra, and that Faye Selma Downs was the librarian there. Eva Kate told us of having been a member of the orchestra for some time, and of having met up with some of our classmates there.

Annie Lee Rivers and her husband had preceded us by several months on their way to Leningrad, being now missionaries in Russia. Ada Powell was now an artist's model in New York and had gone abroad on her vacation the preceding summer. She went with an old friend, Beatrice Pruitt, who was going to study in Manchester, being an efficient salesman for Curtiss aeroplanes.

That evening, while dancing and becoming acquainted with our fellow voyagers, we learned of more of our friends. Ruth Brown, whose husband was foreign ambassador to Spain, had lived for some time in Washington. There she had frequently seen Fronde Rice, who ran an advertising agency there. Along with this she was making a name for herself by running a column of "Answers for the Lovelorn" in one of the Washington daily papers. Inez Boleman was also in Washington, gaining fame as a caterer.

I considered this a most profitable voyage, since I had renewed so many friendships and renewed so many memories. Only one I had heard nothing of, and on asking about her, I found that only Ruby Hunnicutt knew where she was. This was Hazel Jeffcoat, and she was in California. She designed dresses for the Paramount Pictures in Hollywood, and no picture was considered complete unless it could advertise "Gowns by Hazel." Never have I spent a more thoroughly happy day than this first day out at sea. I shall always have a tender feeling for the "Ile de France," since it was the location of our happy meeting.

ELISE CAMPBELL, Prophet.

Calendar

SEPTEMBER

- 10—Hail! Hail! The gang's all here! We don't mind the weather. Trains and buses crowded with Anderson College girls, new and old. Much smacking among old girls while new ones look on.
- 11—New girls spent first night away from home. Wonder what'll happen today! "My, those sophs eye us!"
- 12—Formal opening and classes organize. Oh, me! Oh, my! If anybody hates classes it's I, I, I!
- 13—Poor green freshmen, scared out of their wits by the Miss Sophs at 12:30 o'clock that night—dressed as ghosts.
- 14—New girls are entertained by "Y". Heaps of fun. After program go to "Dew Drop Inn."
- 15—Stragglers still coming in one by one. Our first Sunday at church in Anderson. Free rides on street car. Our president speaks at First Baptist Church.
- 20—Estherians give annual night club party for new girls and faculty. More fun, and gee! those good things to eat!
- 23—Dull classes, long days, no letters much from home. Nothing to do but go to the movie.
- 26—Old faculty members initiate new ones. My! They're scared most to death. Miss Culyer invites them to Spanish program and "cats" in her studio.
- 28—Lanier party tonight. Every new girl enthused and wondering what this will be like. Oh, it's a slumming party! More fun and cats.

OCTOBER

- 5—New girls join societies. Gee! Which do I want to be? Lanier or Estherian? Rush! Rush! Ain't we having more fun and excitement?
- 10—"Give to us October!" When will that day of all days be? Can't be long, we all know our song.
- 16—Here 'tis! Nothing else 'cept October Day. "Dew Drop Inn" was the lucky place for us.

NOVEMBER

- 10—Here we go to Coker to B. S. U. Conference. Hip, hip, hooray! Get holidays, but, my, my, have to go to school on Thanksgiving Day!
- 15—Statistics! Who's the prettiest girl? Oh, Ada wins. Must be great to be beautiful.
- 28—Thanksgiving Day is here! Who's going to the big game? Turkey dinner an' "three more weeks and we'll go home!"

DECEMBER

- 3—Let's go see "Golddiggers of Broadway."
- 5—Junior College! Shock? I should say—Anderson College changed into a Junior College!
- 6—Town Girls' Revue! We must see that—dancing, singing, an' everything!
- 14—Looks like it's about Christmas! At least Freshies are giving Sophs a Christmas reception. Congratulations, little ones. Everything went off O. K.
- 15—Glee Club renders annual cantata in auditorium. My! But Miss Culyer is some director!
- 19—"No more days till vacation—"

JANUARY

- 2—Oh, my! Return to Alma Mater. What a glorious time we had at home, but glad to see everybody again.
- 10—Estherian dance. Gee, but what fun!
- 16—Exams! Exams! Scared to death. Good luck to everybody.
- 23—They are all over, and how happy we are! Did everybody pass?

FEBRUARY

- 14—Founder's Day! Speeches, speeches. My, how many people! Proud of Anderson College? I'll say we are!
- 20—A month and a half until vacation. Will we ever last that long?
- 25—Fire drill! Oh, gee, how we hate to crawl out after 12:00 p.m. It is terrible to abuse people like that.

MARCH

- 10—Student Government election not far off, and who will it be? Think, girls, think!
- 15—Nominating committee meets. Gee, what excitement!
- 20—Election takes place—and who wins? Congratulations everyone.
- 26—Can we wait much longer?
- 27—Student Government officers installed. Installation service.
- 28—Home once again.

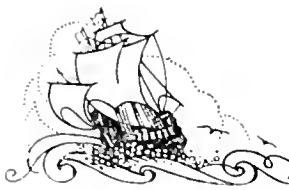

APRIL

- 3—Back again. Oh, those classes!
- 12—Senior Play. And were they good? You bet!
- 20—Almost time to elect May Queen, and who shall it be? Just wait and see.
- 25—May Queen chosen. Is she pretty? I'll say she is!

MAY

- 1—May Day! Queen stately, pretty, and dances, music and beauty.
- 8—Junior-Senior Reception! Gee, but didn't we have fun! Wonderful Juniors!
- 10—Recital. The work has begun.
- 17—Exams—Final! May everybody pass!
- 25—Annual debate. My, the excitement! Who wins? Well, just wait.
- 27—Good-bye, Seniors! Best of luck in this old world!
- 28—Everybody leaves for summer vacation. Good-bye to Alma Mater.

Miss Cowdrick: "When was Rome built?"

Fronde: "At night."

Miss Cowdrick: "Who told you that?"

Fronde: "You did. You said Rome wasn't built in a day."

Mr. Sullivan: "The mind is a wonderful organ. It begins its work the very minute we open our eyes in the morning and does not cease working until we get in class."

Mrs. Gibson: "Boo, hoo! I'm sorry I married you."

Mr. Gibson: "You ought to be. You kept some other girl from getting a good husband."

Jokes

Nathan: "Say, boy, ain't you had yo' hair cut?"

Roy: "Naw, nigger; I jes had my ears moved down two inches."

"That's what comes of being so attractive," sighed Claudia as she was hit by lightning.

Miss Gilbert: "Which one of the parables do you like the best?"

Naomi Stogner: "The one where everybody loafs and fishes."

Mary Lou: "When I lie down for a quiet think, I realize how tempus fugit is creeping on."

Doc Welborn: "I couldn't have told you the foreign name, but they're creeping on me, too."

Mary Metts: "Oh, teacher, you can't flunk me; I'm insane!"

Lipstick and flypaper, they're much alike; they catch the careless creatures that pause to investigate.

Marion: "Ouch! I just bumped my crazy bone."

Charlie: "Well, it oughtn't hurt much—your hair is pretty thick."

I'm wise to the ways of the traffic cop,
But not to the ways of Sue.

When her eyes say "Go" and her lips say
"Stop,"

What is a fellow to do?

Ed Earle: "Hello, darling, would you like to have dinner with me tonight?"

Ruth Brown: "I'd love to, dear."

Ed: "Well, tell your mother I'll be over at seven o'clock."

Mr. Vonhassln: "Give me a sentence with the word 'mawkish' in it."

Sally Blanch: "Give me just one mawkish."

Elise Campbell: "Gosh, it was a narrow escape! The car turned two complete somersaults."

Jack: "Evidently it thought that one good turn deserved another."

Ada: "Why do elephants have such big trunks?"

Mary Frances: "They have come all the way from India, stupid."

Drunk (to skunk): "Nice kitty; nice kitty! Shay, what have you been drinking?"

COLLEGE ANNUAL HEADQUARTERS
Highest Quality Workmanship Superior Extensive Service

THE publication of a college annual is by no means a small and an easy task. But when the hardest tasks are over and completed there comes the satisfaction of knowing that something has been accomplished. In presenting this, the 1930 volume of the SORORIAN, to the students and faculty of Anderson College, the SORORIAN staff gives you the result of their tedious, yet glorious task. It has been a pleasure to serve you in this capacity and in behalf of the staff the editor wishes to thank every student and every faculty member who had a part in the making of our annual. Also to Miss Dorothy Cronkhite, Senior Class sponsor and faculty advisor for the annual; to Miss Hattie Fay, and to the three companies with which we worked; to the Benson Printing Company, represented by Mr. W. A. Daniel; to the John & Ollier Engraving Company, represented by Mr. Harold Mann, and to the White Studio, represented by Mr. Stanley Marques—do we wish to express our thanks for their advice and for their patience in the publication of our volume of the SORORIAN. We also want to thank the merchants of the city of Anderson who so graciously provided the advertising section of our book. Lastly, the editor expresses her deep appreciation to each member of the staff who gladly and willingly gave their aid at all times. In a special manner does she thank Miss Ada Powell, business manager, for her efficient service. This staff would be an inspiration to any editor and to them belongs the credit for their publication of this, the 1930 volume of the SORORIAN of Anderson College.
